Hyperbaric Research
Targets Brain Injury

Testing hyperbaric oxygen therapy as treatment for the lingering effects of traumatic brain injury is a focus of research at the OSU Center for Aerospace and Hyperbaric Medicine in Tulsa. The Center's large pressure chambers provide unique research opportunities in both high and low air-pressure environments for physicians, scientists, aerospace engineers and students. Innovative research at OSU in Tulsa helps advance medicine and technology for Oklahoma.

OSU Center for Aerospace and Hyperbaric Medicine
www.healthsciences.okstate.edu/research/cahm
(918) 828-4076